For the first time in ten years the teen pregnancy rate rose in 2006. Learn strategies and innovative programs to promote healthy teen lifestyles, prevent teen pregnancy and support teen parents.

The Council provides leadership to mobilize the community toward the delivery and growth of healthy babies through advocacy, education and facilitation of partnerships that embody a multi-cultural perspective.

Caring for 2 is a Healthy Start Project working with community agencies to provide services to pregnant and parenting women in three Columbus neighborhoods to increase access to healthcare and to improve birth outcomes.

Funded in part by project H49MC0028 from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Health Resources and Services Administration, Maternal and Child Health Bureau (Title V, Social Security Act).

Who Should Attend:

Tomorrow's Leaders and Today's Mothers is designed for professionals who work in healthcare, behavioral healthcare, social services, child protection, education, government, and criminal justice fields and for community leaders from businesses, foundations, chambers of commerce, churches, and advocacy groups.

Purpose:

Each year, the Council on Healthy Mothers and Babies, in collaboration with Caring for 2, holds a conference on important maternal and child health topics for a day of continuing education, skill-building, networking, resource sharing and support. This year's conference, Tomorrow's Leaders and Today's Mothers, aims to give you the tools to improve your work with teens, whether in overall health, pregnancy prevention, or with teen parents.

Conference Objectives:

1. Expand participants knowledge and skills for working with teens at risk and teen parents.
2. Provide opportunities for participants to network with state and region wide program providers allowing for exchange of information.
3. Identify research based strategies and innovative programs to encourage healthy teen lifestyles, prevent teen pregnancy and support teen parents.
4. Develop participants' commitment to continue the important work of teen support.
